

To Whom It May Concern;

The Australian Community Counselling Association (ACCA) provides membership and support to counsellors studying and practising in the industry across Australia. The community services and counselling industry has seen rapid growth in the past few years, with more opportunities for quality graduates to find work opportunities using the skills and knowledge gained through their studies.

As the community services and counselling industry is an ever-changing industry, it is important that students graduating from VET accredited courses and tertiary studies are well-prepared. Students are required to be provided with the opportunity to learn and develop the skills and knowledge required to gain employment in the counselling sector and practice counselling effectively.

The Australian Community Counselling Association (ACCA) recognises the high calibre of training the Diploma of Counselling students at Australis College are provided. Australis College have applied for – and attained – recognition for their Diploma of Counselling course by the Australian Community Counselling Association Board. They have demonstrated the quality of their training by allowing ACCA to examine many aspects of their training courses to check that the training and study requirements meet ACCA standards.

We are excited by the potential opportunities for students graduating from this educational institution and have confidence in the knowledge and skills that they will bring to the industry.

Kind regards

Australian Community Counselling Association Board